

Eddie Pauline (McMinn, McDowell) Orton

October 9, 1928 - March 3, 2024

Eddie Pauline (McMinn, McDowell) Orton's life was a testament to hard work, love, and the joy of companionship. From her early days on the farm to her work in manufacturing, dentistry, and as a devoted homemaker for her family and grandchildren, she approached each task with determination and grace.

Her first love, Jack, was a serendipitous encounter at the mill, sparked by a shared experience with a jammed peanut dispenser. Their romance blossomed into years of happiness until his passing. Later in life, she found unexpected love again with Dewey, who brought even more joy and shared interests into her life, including her passion for sports.

She was not only a beloved figure to her own family but to the entire community, offering love and support effortlessly to all who crossed her path. The world had the joy of experiencing her from her birth on October 9, 1928, until her passing on March 3, 2024.

She is preceded in death by many loved ones and survived by many more. We've had the blessing of celebrating and loving her here on earth for the last 95 years. Today the celebration begins her homecoming in heaven. Take comfort that when you see her again, she will have perfected her dancing on two brand new healed feet.

Her life was rich with "muchness," a tapestry of countless little moments and details that continue to bring smiles to those who remember her fondly. She was the epitome of the Proverbs 31 woman exuding noble character as a wife and a mother. She will be deeply missed but forever cherished for the love, joy, and laughter she brought into the lives of all who knew her.
