“ Nikki you were my best friend through life and you brought me immeasurable sunshine and happiness. In the last few months we shared many conversations about life and death. You asked me questions about how your impending death would happen but of course that was something only God knew the answer to. You asked me if your mother, Memaw and Nanna would recognize you in Heaven and I assured her that they were smiling now, and waiting on you to arrive. Nikki, you absolutely humbled me with your bravery as you faced your failing health, but you never complained. You did cry a few times and when you cried, we cried together. My heart breaks being left here without you Nikki, I feel empty and alone.

Since you passed, I have been contacted by several people with stories of how you helped them conquer their own troubles. One woman said you pushed her to complete school even doing her papers or homework for her just to give her a little breathing room. A couple of people told me how you pushed them to complete their rehab when you were having issues with your own. Even though you had no money, you always gave the most valuable gift a person can give, you gave people your time and you gave them love. Your love lives on in the lives of all you the people that were lucky enough to have known you..

Nikki lived with me the last 10 months of her life and we had hundreds of conversations all of which I will cherish forever. I told her many times that one of the things I would miss most was the way she always greeted me, it was with the words, HI DADDY. The way she said it, the way she would emphasize her words was just so enduring to me.

Her sense of humor, her quick wit and the sound of her laughing will be missed by me and I am sure by many others as well. I will always remember our inside jokes, I laugh at some of them every day. What a blessing she was to so many but especially to me and I was blessed to have had her in my life for 44 years. Even though she left me here in so much pain, I am happy that Nikki is now with Jesus, and in no more pain.

Thank you Nikki for all you did to bless my life and for loving me the way you did especially the times that I was unlovable. Your love never failed me and so I will continue to live my life loving you and honoring your memory and i pray that I will see you in heaven one day. I Love you Jennifer Nicole more than simple words can say.
