“Joan was a wonderful friend and woman of God. She contributed greatly to our Bible study group and came up with a wonderful spread sheet to help us when going from one edition of a Bible study reference book to the updated edition. That helped the classes a lot as some people had the old and other the new. She loved geology.

“Joan loved seeing plays at the Alabama Shakespeare Festival. Every year she used to attend the Southern Writer’s Project weekend.

A group of us who also attended that event every year got to know Joan and we looked forward to seeing her there, and to sharing insights and conversations, and meals with her.

We will always remember her thoughtful appreciation of the plays, and we will miss her humor and insight. She will be missed!
