

Mildred Hall

March 3, 1930 - January 18, 2025

Mildred had a long, beautiful life, spending it with her husband Ralph Hall, they had quite the life together. Full of love, Family, traveling, owning business' and building their own home in Rainsville Alabama. Mildred had successes of her own including her love for Jesus. She would LOVE to talk about Jesus. If you knew Mildred, you knew she was a true follower of the Lord. She had her book she wrote called "What are we going to do today, Lord?". She sold it at the Christian Book Store. She longed for revival and now she has it with her family in heaven. Mildred fulfilled everybody's life and showered them in love, her favorite foods and topped it off with her famous corn bread. Mildred was a strong, sincere woman and we will miss her dearly.

“ I honestly will never forget the first time we met. My grandparents (Lonam & Elsie Wigley) were sending out Christmas gift baskets one year, and she asked if I was their grandson... From then on, we have been such great friends, exchanging religious gifts and stories, as she was honestly the best neighbor one could ever ask for. Mrs. Mildred, you will be dearly missed. We all love and appreciate everything you were for us.

“ Besides her love for God, she loved her flowers. She surely had a green thumb when it came to her flowers. I believe she probably blessed them every time she sat on her deck admiring their beauty. She also wrote songs and allowed me to have copies of them. RIP Aunt Mildred
