“ As young teens, Randy had a small motorbike which he and Steve rode all Over the Valley. Usually up to the dirt pit, Randy's favorite place! (He said he proposed to Darlene there! I asked him why didn't he take her to a romantic place!) One day with the dirt bikes, they were riding down the dirt road, Posey Rd, and my memory is that they stopped in front of me fast! And I clipped into them from the back. I was following in my beautiful, used, 1968 Metallic Green beautiful Chevy! Steve said I'm wrong on the details

“ As a rebuttal to my memory-challenged older sister, Vicki, here is the real story about the fire in the woods. As she said, she, Randy and I got behind the house in the woods and started to build a fort out of branches and whatever else we could find to prop it up. Then we decided that we needed to build a fire. Now in retrospect, it was a bad idea. . . Randy said "I have a lighter" and the reason I remember the lighter was because there was a Salem emblem on it. As a side note, I think he pilfered it from his dad. :-) At the time, I was 6 and Randy and Vicki were 8. We got rocks and put it in a round circle and then got small limbs and branches and put in the middle of the rocks. Randy got the lighter out and lit the fire in our hut. Low and behold, the fire got so high that it caught our little hut on fire. Once the hut started burning, it caught other foilage on fire outside the hut. Randy and Vicki tried to put it out with more brush and stomping on it. It continued to roar and started to get bigger. At this point, Randy and Vicki yelled at me to run and get our parents. So I took off running down the hill as fast as I could go, ran up the steps into the house, bounded through the door and yelled, "We caught the woods on fire!!" All the adults jumped up and ran out the door and my dad had me by the arm. When we got to where you could see the fire, my dad started spanking my butt while running. One of the adults grabbed the water hose and started dragging it up the hill but it didn't reach the fire. At that point, all the adults ran to the fire and stomped it out. So, I was the only one who got in trouble. Randy and I would still laugh about this story as adults. Randy laughed because I was the only one who got in trouble. So needless to say, my sister's version above is not all correct but I love her anyway. We had many great times during our childhood and I will miss Randy so much.

“ A funny memory from our family: Randy was our cousin and also a good friend from birth on. When Randy and I were maybe 5 or 6, and Steve Talley, my brother, was 2 years younger than us, we went up the hill behind Randy's parent's house to look for wild strawberries. Randy took a pack of matches with him. We managed to set the hill on fire! We ran down to the house and told them the hill was on fire. They put it out. Later they asked what happened. We blamed my 4 year old brother for it, of course. They didn't believe us. Randy and I got a "whopping" with a hickory limb! But the three of us had great times together growing up as cousins and friends. We love you, Randy.

Also, the first time I met his wife, he introduced us. He said, "This is my wife, Darlene." Then he grinned and said, But I call her Darling!" He was a sweet, sweet man.
