“ Lisa, my heart is broken for you and your family. I remember Ryan from CPBC. I remember he and my Carrie picking at each other and their laughter. I pray that the love and joy Ryan brought into your life will fill your heart. I can't even pretend to understand but I know our loving Father in heaven does. May He hold you close in His arms and carry you on this journey. Cheryl Adams, Severna Park, MD

“ Mike and Lisa,

When Steve and I heard the news from Gage, we were crushed and couldn't think of anything else but how and why?? Since then we are beginning to process this reality and remembering the Ryan we all know and love. He was so dang quick-witted and always smiling. And we will always think of that crazy fraternity picture of him and his cat. It speaks volumes of his quirky, earnest humor. Steve and I loved him as a third son and he was one of Gage's, and probably, the most loyal of his friends. They were all quite a cast of characters together and our family was blessed to have known Ryan. As parents, we know that losing a child is truly the fullest, most monumental kind of pain. Time will help somewhat but there will always be a veil of him and his lingering spirit and your thoughts of what he was to you and what he might have become. Steve and I pray that you all take some comfort in knowing that Ryan was loved dearly by us and so many others and he will never be forgotten. You will see him again.

“ Words can not convey the heartbreak I feel for Lisa, Mike and all of his family and friends who loved him so much. I think about Ryan's quick smile and great sense of humor and I cannot help but smile. Ryan had a charisma about him that just pulled people in and made them love him. He was intelligent and handsome but more importantly, he was polite and respectful and kind. Ryan was blessed to have two of the best parents a child could ask for. Their love for him was constant, evident and overflowing. I cannot imagine the pain Lisa is feeling and will continue to feel for a long time in the loss of her only child. Lisa was an amazing mother to Ryan. I pray that we can somehow find peace in the wonderful memories this young man gave us.

Mike, I never met your son, but I know you. Knowing you tells me Ryan must have been a fantastic person. There are events in our lives that cannot be explained, appear impossible to overcome, and words do little to soften the blow of such a tremendous loss. This, my brother, is one of those events. I’ve given a great deal of thought, in search of appropriate words, but there really are no words that will help. While of little comfort right now, know that time will soften the edges. Until then, please know that you and your family are in my thoughts.

“ My first memory of Ryan was the first day of high school for Alex. He came home and told me he had made a couple of new friends and they were on their way over. When they arrived Alex took off out the door and I looked out the window and the first person I saw looked like a 20-year-old man with a beard (Gage), but then I saw the other baby faced kid and thought, “OK if we average their age appearance we have a kids about Alex’s age”. Ryan and Gage came to dinner and I knew that we had two new members to our family. It amazed me the ease that these 14-year-old teenagers sat and talked, joked and laughed at our dinner table. It was all so natural. I knew after the first few moments of speaking with them that they were raised with love, compassion and a sense of humor. Prior to Ryan when we wanted Michael we would yell “Hey, Michael!” but then Ryan came in with “MYYYCULLLL” using a high-pitched southern twang that cannot be done justice on a piece of paper. Michael’s 19 now and we find ourselves still using the Ryan call for him and every time we do we laugh. That’s the second greatest gift he gave our family, so much laughter. The first is the fierce friendship he gave to our son. I use the word fierce because it was beyond best or good. It is the friendship that withstands distance, tests, time and now earthly boundaries. It is a friendship filled with love, compassion, loyalty and honesty. Lisa and Mike, you gave us the gift of Ryan and we will be forever grateful to you both. Ryan is in the arms of God, His new angel, our angel watching over us until we see each other again. You are in our thoughts and prayers and we are sending you our love. Zandra & Kevin

“ This week has been a nightmare for our family. Our 25 year old only grandson, Ryan, and daughter Lisa's only child died in his sleep Monday night. Ryan was so witty, smart, lovable, handsome and we loved him more than I can express. His death has left a void in our lives which can never be filled.
